Parent's Practice Tip # 36:

Interesting to note that you are only now, end of May, receiving both this May/June Newsletter, next year's policy, and the end-of-year accounting for 2021-22. No burnout there, eh.

I am feeling the pull of travel, of hearing beautiful (live) music, of doing some discretionary reading, of sharing music (always), and resting. I can only imagine my students feel the same way about some of those wishes.

It's more important than ever for your child to choose delicious and fun music to practice this summer. And for us to find ways to make scales and sight reading interesting.

If there's a musical style that your child loves, and I seem unaware, please let me know, and I will strive to find an appropriate book for your child to enjoy this summer.

I hope dearly that we can all start the fall with joyful anticipation.
