Practice Tip No. 40 for Parents -

TUNE IT. TUNE IT NOW

I loved my time in California, and I enjoyed having a teaching schedule the first week I was there there. It was extremely interesting to see everyone in their natural habitat, where they practice every week. I heard some nasty pianos.

The number one motivator for students to practice is sounding good. Can they sound good on your instrument? If it's been more than a year since the tuner came, your child is not getting that encouragement from the instrument, and parents are tortured listening to this thing. An out-of-tune instrument is painful and cause for avoidance.

Here are some names. John Farrell (410-997-6152). Sean Burget (410-489-4700). Phil Heiliger (410-597-8448). Marc Abram (202-468-8270). If you have a regular technician not listed here, give that person a ring today!
